SPICMA – boreholes in Uganda

We have received a letter of thanks from SPICMA for our Lenten Offerings and other donations made during the past months (totalling £2363.45). They write that they plan to focus the funds on "one of two borehole projects we are currently considering. There is a parish in Kotido, Uganda which is in need of a borehole to help surrounding villagers during periods of drought. There is also a rural school in Moroto Diocese, Uganda which has requested our help, as they cannot afford to purchase water from unreliable government sources. A borehole would help them remain open".

THE LITURGICAL CALENDAR THIS WEEK . . .

Wednesday is the Memorial of St Anselm – a Benedictine monk who became Archbishop of Canterbury in 1093. His writings were a major influence on philosophical thinking in the Middle Ages. His ontological argument for the existence of God became a classic: "God is that than which no greater can be thought" (think about it!). In 1092, he established at Chester the Benedictine Abbey of St Werburgh – now Chester Cathedral. He died in 1109.

Friday is the National Solemnity of St George – martyr and a patron of many places, including Georgia, Portugal, Ethiopia, Russia, England, Palestine, Malta, Venice, Beirut, Aragon and Catalonia. Little is known for certain about him, but it is highly unlikely that he ever killed a dragon.

Saturday is the Diocesan Memorial of St Mellitus, Bishop – a Roman abbot, sent to England by Pope Gregory in the wake of St Augustine. He worked in Kent for three years before becoming the first Bishop of London. Banished to France for refusing Holy Communion to the king's apostate sons, in 619 he was recalled to England as Archbishop of Canterbury. He died in 624.

Pope Francis, from the Regina Caeli Address, St Peter's Square, 15 April 2018

At the centre of this Third Sunday of Easter there is the encounter with the Risen One experienced by his disciples, all together. This is evidenced especially by the Gospel which introduces us once again to the Upper Room, where Jesus manifests himself to the Apostles, addressing this greeting to them: "Peace to you" (Lk 24:36). It is the greeting of the Risen Christ, who gives us peace: "Peace to you!" It is a matter of both inner peace and the peace that is established in interpersonal relationships. The episode recounted by Luke the Evangelist rests heavily on the realism of the Resurrection. Jesus is not a spirit. Indeed, it is not about an apparition of Jesus' spirit, but of his real presence with his risen body.

Jesus realizes that the Apostles are unsettled in seeing him, that they are bewildered because the reality of the Resurrection is inconceivable to them. They believe they are seeing a spirit; but the Risen Jesus is not a spirit; he is a man with body and soul. This is why, in order to convince them, he says to them: "See my hands and my feet" — he shows them his wounds — "that it is I myself; handle me, and see; for a spirit has not flesh and bones as you see that I have" (v. 39). And since this did not seem enough to overcome the disciples' disbelief — the Gospel says something interesting: there was so much joy they had within - that this joy prevented them from believing it: "No, it cannot be! It cannot be so! So much joy is not possible!" And Jesus, in order to convince them, asks them: "Have you anything here to eat?" (v. 41). They offer him some broiled fish; Jesus takes and eats it in front of them, in order to convince them.
